HOW ARE GRANT DECISIONS MADE?

Grant proposals are reviewed by the NCCF. A site visit may be undertaken by one or more Board members. Following review, the NCCF Board of Directors makes decisions to award grants to organizations.

WHAT ORGANIZATIONS ARE ELIGIBLE TO RECEIVE GRANTS?

Grants are made to tax-exempt public charities under Section 501 (c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and to government agencies. Grants are limited to projects in the Nelson County. Grants are made without regard to factors of gender, race, religion, national origin, or sexual orientation.

WHAT TYPES OF PROJECTS ARE SUPPORTED?

Careful consideration is given to the potential impact of the project and to especially imaginative and collaborative approaches to solving community needs. Categories of support include, but are not limited to, humanitarian services, education, environment, health, community needs and development.

Both seed money grants for innovative new programs and sustaining grants to organizations performing services vital to the community will be considered. Projects of interest include those that assist citizens whose needs are not met by existing services, and those that benefit a significant number of citizens of the community.

WHAT TYPES OF PROJECTS ARE GENERALLY NOT SUPPORTED?

Support is not generally provided for endowments, building construction, deficit reduction, fund-raising events or annual appeals of well-established organizations, religious programs, grants to individuals or projects normally under dictates of a government agency.

*Organizations whose grant proposal is not approved may reapply in the next grant cycle.

WHAT IS THE REPORTING PROCESS?

A grant recipient is expected to use the funds for the purpose approved in the grant award, and funds are to be expended within the specified period of time. NCCF requires that grant recipients submit a written report on the funded project no later than one year from the date of the grant, or with a subsequent grant request; include number of persons served and type of services as appropriate. This report will be used to evaluate the success of the grant. A follow-up visit may be scheduled by an NCCF member.
